Gierlings Velpor enters a new era

For more than two centuries, Gierlings Velpor has been playing a major role in the Fashion world – our velvets and synthetic furs were worn by some of the top clothing brands worldwide. New steps were taken, and the last decade has witnessed the successful birth of the Decoration line and more recently the Transport and Technical business segments. It's a privilege to count everyday with our clients, suppliers, and partners, whose support has been crucial to create, develop and manufacture some of the most unique velvets and furs. This Newsletter is for them. Its time to be closer to each of you, sharing our progress, updating our innovations and communicating the shows we're attending worldwide. To all who have been with us during this long journey, best wishes for a 2013 full of success.
